Good morning, LICA member!

We have an exciting new campaign kicking off this Spring – A Riparian Health Campaign!

This campaign aims to increase the knowledge and awareness of riparian areas and promote community-based restoration throughout the region. Riparian areas are the transitional zones between water (i.e., lakes, creeks, rivers, wetlands) and up-land. They are essential to watershed health and provide numerous benefits including trapping and storing water and sediment, filtering and buffering water and increasing biodiversity.

Those who sign up for the campaign are committed to helping restore and enhance riparian areas on their property by planting the 10 seedlings provided by LICA for FREE. LICA will have Wild Rose, Saskatoon, and Red Osier Dogwood seedlings ready on June 3, 2024. In addition, various educational resources, and a seasonal riparian health campaign lawn sign, will also be provided to participants.

If you have a riparian area on your property, contact LICA to sign up for this exciting new campaign!

For more information, call us at 780-812-2182, email watershed@lica.ca or stop by our office. We look forward to working with you to restore riparian areas around the region!
